Harbor Front Chamber Music Festival

Program Description: Harbor Front Music at the Village Center is hosting its 4th annual chamber music festival, helping young artists develop skills that are critical to chamber music: teamwork, empathy, problem solving, awareness, and commitment. Students will receive daily coachings, demonstrations, and individual instruction that will help sharpen their technical skills, refine practice strategies, promote a love for music, and build confidence in performance. The session will end with each small group performing in a final concert, and will also feature a larger group performance.

Artistic Director: Ofir Tomer (vln, vla)
Staff: Brendan Shea (vln), Phuc Phan Do (cello), Yerin Kim (piano), Aniell Tomer (admin)

Eligibility: Violin, viola, cello, and piano students aged 11 and up or equivalent level (NYSSMA Level 3 or higher recommended). Auditions are required only for new students who have not participated in previous years. Advanced younger participants may be considered based on audition.

Attendance: Since chamber music relies on teamwork, attendance is critically important for the success of the program – as such, students are required to attend all sessions.

Audition Requirements: Two contrasting pieces or movements -- Prior NYSSMA participation is not required, but an equivalent level of 3 or higher is recommended. Audition videos can be submitted via YouTube or other file sharing services. Live auditions will be scheduled individually.
